Subject: Chat with evilevilcouch@gmail.com
From: "evilevilcouch@gmail.com" <evilevilcouch@gmail.com>
To: barriticus@gmail.com evilevilcouch@gmail.com: ?

me: sorry, was finishing cooking evilevilcouch@gmail.com: lol it's okay me: I don't know, tell her it's not meant to be, etc me: professional relationships, etc me: let her down easy evilevilcouch@gmail.com: ah evilevilcouch@gmail.com: nod evilevilcouch@gmail.com: heh, want to see your horoscope for friday? evilevilcouch@gmail.com: er, today ish me: sure evilevilcouch@gmail.com: (technically it's saturday) evilevilcouch@gmail.com: anyway evilevilcouch@gmail.com: One word leads to another

There could well be a very painful argument if you react in an unconsidered manner at this time. Without warning one word leads to another until you suddenly show yourself to be hard and hostile in order to cover up one of your own weaknesses. In this way you can hurt your partner, a friend, or someone else to whom you are close, so that you greatly reproach yourself afterwards. That is why it is important at this time to be careful during all interactions with people who are close to you. If you remain aware of your feelings and reactions during all personal contacts, you will certainly recognize the situation described above - before it occurs.
me: jesus evilevilcouch@gmail.com: teehee evilevilcouch@gmail.com: wanna see mine for today?
me: yes